On 8/25/75 at 2:19 p.m., Mr. Jack Fuller, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, called requesting of Deputy Assistant Director Thomas W. Leavitt data depicting the Bureau's authority for surreptitious entries for purposes other than installing a microphone. He stated he needed this material no later than Tuesday, August 26, 1975, in order to assist in preparing a communication for the Attorney General.

Attached memorandum previously prepared by the Legal Counsel Division covers the matter of Mr. Fuller's request. The data was furnished to the Attorney General by letter dated 6/30/75 along with a number of other items of interest.

ACTION:

Attached copy of memorandum entitled "PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY TO AUTHORIZE UNUSUAL INVESTIGATIVE TECHNIQUES IN FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE INVESTIGATIONS" be forwarded to Mr. Fuller.

PRESIDENTIAL AUTHORITY TO AUTHORIZE INVESTIGATIVE TECHNIQUES
IN FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE INVESTIGATIONS

The Federal Government has a responsibility to protect the territorial and institutional integrity of the United States, and to this end, it must acquire information to exercise informed judgments in foreign affairs as well as information concerning the activities of foreign powers and their agents in the United States. In an effort to obtain this information, we should inquire whether the President, acting through the Attorney General, may authorize an agency of the Federal Government to utilize investigative techniques such as wiretaps, microphones and surreptitious entries without a court order. The resolution of this question requires consideration of the relationship between Presidential power and national security on the one hand, and the warrant requirement of the Fourth Amendment on the other.

NATIONAL SECURITY AND PRESIDENTIAL POWER

Alexander Hamilton wrote that men could differ regarding the creation of a Federal Government but that once such a Government was created and made responsible for the defense of the nation, it must be given the authority necessary to discharge that responsibility. Hamilton recognized that "the circumstances that endanger the safety of nations are infinite," and for this reason, he wrote, no limits should be placed on the Government's authority in this area.

Numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court, moreover, have indicated that the President, as Chief Executive, possesses powers in foreign and military affairs which are not dependent on a specific legislative grant but derive from the Constitution itself. These decisions have also indicated that the Court holds great respect for these powers and that only with extreme care will it interfere with them.

In Marbury v. Madison the Court commented: "By the Constitution . . . the President is invested with certain political powers, in the exercise of which he is to use his own discretion, and is accountable only to his country in his political character, and to his own conscience." In 1863, the Supreme Court in the Prize Cases went on to uphold the President's authority to blockade insurrectionary Southern ports without Congressional authorization. In 1915, the Supreme Court in Mackenzie v. Hare explained that the Federal judiciary should be slow to curtail such powers.

In United States v. Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., decided by the Supreme Court in 1936, the Court again commented upon the President's powers in the area of foreign affairs. It explained that there is a significant difference between the conduct of domestic, as opposed to foreign affairs, and stated that the Government's powers in the area of internal affairs are limited to those specifically enumerated in the Constitution. In the area of foreign affairs, however, the powers of the Government are not limited to those set forth in the Constitution. If not expressly set forth in that document, the Court wrote, the Executive, as an attribute of sovereignty, would still have the power "to declare and wage war" and "to maintain diplomatic relations."

The Court in Curtiss-Wright, discussing the sensitive nature of foreign diplomacy and the need for secrecy, wrote that if the nation is to be successful in its foreign relations the executive branch must be afforded greater flexibility than it is permitted in the area of domestic affairs. The President, not Congress, the Court reasoned, is in a better position to be knowledgeable regarding conditions in foreign countries. "Secrecy in respect of information gathered by [Presidential sources and agents] may be highly necessary, and the premature disclosure of it productive of harmful results."

The Supreme Court in Hirabayashi v. United States went on to state that the President's "war power" is "the power to wage war successfully" and held that the power extended "to every matter and activity so related to war as substantially to affect its credit and progress." The Court went on to say that the Constitution has given to the President great latitude in determining the nature and extent of the danger to the nation and the means to resist it. Regarding the judiciary's role in this area, the Court again emphasized that it would interfere with the President's power in this area only with extreme care.

In 1948, the Supreme Court in Chicago and Southern Airlines, Inc. v. Waterman Corp.¹¹ reaffirmed and elaborated on its earlier holding in Curtiss-Wright, supra. The Court in Waterman again held that the President is empowered to act with broad freedom and secrecy in the conduct of foreign relations and that the judiciary should not interfere with Presidential power in this area. Commenting on the sensitive nature of foreign affairs and the judiciary's role in this area, the Court said:

"The President . . . has available intelligence services whose reports are not and ought not to be published to the world. It would be intolerable that courts without the relevant information should review and perhaps nullify actions of the Executive taken on information properly held secret. Nor can courts sit in camera in order to be taken into executive confidences. But even if courts could acquire full disclosure, the very nature of executive decisions as to foreign policy is political, not judicial. Such decisions are wholly confided by our Constitution to the political department . . . They are delicate, complex and involve large elements of prophecy . . . They are decisions of a kind for which the Judiciary has neither aptitude, facilities, nor responsibilities and which has long been held to belong in the domain of political power not subject to judicial intrusion or inquiry . . ."¹²

The Congress has also recognized that the President has certain powers in the area of foreign affairs. Title III. of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act¹³ authorizes the use of electronic surveillance for certain crimes. Along with the surveillance provisions in the Act, there is the following proviso:

"Nothing contained in this chapter . . . shall limit the constitutional power of the President to take such measures as he deems necessary to protect the Nation against actual or potential attack or other hostile acts of a foreign power, to obtain foreign intelligence information deemed essential to the security of the United States, or to protect national security, information against foreign intelligence activities." ¹⁴

THE WARRANT REQUIREMENT

But the question is raised: Does the Fourth Amendment's ¹⁵
warrant requirement prohibit the President, acting without a court order, from authorizing an agency of the Federal Government to utilize physical entries directed against foreign powers and their agents?

Recent wiretap cases shed light on this issue. Prior to 1967, the Supreme Court decided the legality of electronic surveillance by determining whether or not a trespass was involved; the Fourth Amendment was violated only if at the time of the installation there was a trespass on ¹⁶
the premises. In the Katz case in 1967, however, the Court held that oral communications were protected from unreasonable surveillance by the Fourth Amendment and that the mandate of this Amendment required adherence to judicial process. The Fourth Amendment "governs not only the seizure of tangible items, but [also] extends . . . to the recording ¹⁷
of oral statements overheard without" trespass.

Intentionally left open in Katz, supra, was the question of whether safeguards other than prior authorization by a magistrate would satisfy the Fourth Amendment in a situation involving national security. The issue unresolved in Katz was partially faced by the Supreme Court in ¹⁸
United States v. United States District Court. There the Supreme Court held that electronic surveillance in the domestic security area conducted solely within the discretion of the Executive violated the warrant requirement of the Fourth Amendment. The Court, however, emphasized the case involved only the domestic aspects of national security. "We have not addressed, and express no opinion as to, the issues which may be involved with respect to activities of foreign powers or their agents."

Thus, the Supreme Court has reserved judgment relative to the question of whether a warrantless electronic surveillance directed against foreign powers violates the Fourth Amendment. Every lower Federal Court that has faced the question, however, has ^{stated} the President may constitutionally authorize warrantless wiretaps when directed against foreign powers or their agents.

In United States v. Brown the Court commented:

"Restrictions upon the President's power which are appropriate in cases of domestic security become artificial in the context of the international sphere . . . [A] thread . . . runs through the Federalist Papers: that the President must take care to safeguard the nation from possible foreign encroachment, whether in its existence as a nation or in its intercourse with other nations."

In United States v. Butenko the Court commented:

"The expansive language of United States v. Curtiss - Wright Export Corp. provides support for the contention that the President is authorized to act unencumbered by the Fourth Amendment requirement of prior judicial approval and probable cause when he is dealing with national security matters."

In United States v. Hoffman the Court found that while there is no express constitutional provision authorizing the President to conduct warrantless surveillances, such authorization impliedly exists where the search is necessary in the conduct of foreign affairs.

We may then ask whether the President has the authority to authorize a warrantless physical entry directed against foreign powers.

26

In United States v. Ehrlichman, a criminal prosecution for conspiring to violate Title 18, United States Code, Section 241, and thus injure a citizen in the enjoyment of Fourth Amendment rights, the Special Prosecutor asserted that the President, acting through the Attorney General, does not have the authority to authorize a warrantless, physical entry in the foreign area.

27

The Court agreed. It reasoned that the President does not have the authority to suspend the requirement of the Fourth Amendment and stated that the Government must comply with ^{the warrant requirement} ~~strict constitutional limitations on~~ ²⁸ ~~trespassory searches~~ even when known foreign agents are involved.

But these comments, while they should be given consideration, do not declare a conclusion of law reached by the court as to the legal effect of the facts revealed. They are dictum, the opinions of one judge. In fact, no court has held that the President may not authorize a surreptitious entry directed against foreign powers. Thus, it can be argued that the question is an open one.

The Fourth Amendment is concerned with searches and seizures, not trespasses per se; both the interception of oral communications and a surreptitious entry constitute significant intrusions upon interests protected by the Fourth Amendment. Thus, if the President has the authority to authorize warrantless electronic surveillance against foreign powers it would appear that he could constitutionally authorize a surreptitious entry against foreign powers. Of course, the court in United States v. Ehrlichman, supra, commenting on recent lower Federal court cases which stated the President may constitutionally authorize warrantless electronic surveillance against foreign powers, characterized wiretapping as a "relatively nonobtrusive search." But wiretapping is an intrusion that can last for an indefinite period and is pervasive, while the intrusion connected with a physical entry is of relatively short duration and is usually directed toward a specific objective. Thus, it would appear that where the objective of an entry is simply to create the circumstances for monitoring it is actually less intrusive than wiretapping. Where the objective of the entry is to conduct a physical search, the disparity between wiretapping and a physical entry may be narrower, and depending on the circumstances, a physical entry may approach wiretapping in intrusiveness.

On appeal in the Ehrlichman case, the Department of Justice filed a memorandum for the United States as amicus curiae [friend of the court], commenting on the legality of the different forms of warrantless surveillance involving foreign espionage or intelligence.

The document specifies:

"It is the position of the Department of Justice that such activities must be very carefully controlled. There must be solid reason to believe that foreign espionage or intelligence is involved. In addition, the intrusion into any zone of expected privacy must be kept to a minimum and there must be personal authorization by the President or the Attorney General. The United States believes that activities so controlled are lawful under the Fourth Amendment. In regard to warrantless searches related to foreign espionage or intelligence, the Department does not believe there is a constitutional difference between searches conducted by wiretapping and those involving physical entries into private premises. One form of search is no less serious than another. It is and has long been the Department's view that warrantless searches involving physical entries into private premises are justified under the proper circumstances when related to foreign espionage or intelligence . . . "30

CONCLUSION

Numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court have recognized that the President, as Chief Executive, possesses powers in foreign and military affairs which are not dependent on a specific legislative grant but derive from the Constitution itself and that the Constitution has given the President great latitude in determining the nature and extent of the danger to the nation and the means to resist it. Concerning the judiciary's role in this area, the Court has emphasized that it would interfere with the President's powers only with extreme care. It is yet to be seen whether the Supreme Court will interpret the Constitution as imposing specific limitations on the President's powers in this area.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

RECENT RECORDS REVIEW IN THE NEW YORK OFFICE IN RESPONSE TO A CIVIL SUIT FILED BY THE SOCIALIST WORKERS PARTY (SWP) REVEALED CERTAIN DOCUMENTS WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES CONDUCTED BY THE NEW YORK OFFICE OVER A PERIOD OF YEARS, BEGINNING IN THE 1940'S AND CONTINUING TO 1975. THESE DOCUMENTS SHOW SUCH INFORMATION AS REQUESTS FOR AUTHORITY TO CONDUCT ENTRIES, NEW YORK OFFICE AND HEADQUARTERS' APPROVALS, TARGETS OF ENTRY, AND PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN ENTRIES.

AS YOU ARE AWARE, THE DEPARTMENT'S CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION IS MAKING AN INQUIRY INTO INVESTIGATIVE MATTERS OF THE FBI WHICH INVOLVED SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY. THIS INQUIRY IS CONCERNED WITH ENTRIES WHICH OCCURRED SUBSEQUENT TO JANUARY 1, 1966. IN THIS REGARD, NEW YORK'S INTERNAL SECURITY DIVISION FURNISHED, BY NITEL OF APRIL 5, 1976, CONSIDERABLE INFORMATION RELATING

ALTHOUGH SOME OF THE ENTRIES CONDUCTED IN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE MATTERS MAY HAVE BEEN REPORTED ALREADY TO THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION, IT IS NECESSARY THAT THE DOCUMENTS IN QUESTION BE REVIEWED TO INSURE OUR FULL COMPLIANCE WITH THE DEPARTMENT'S INQUIRY.

ACCORDINGLY, NEW YORK IS INSTRUCTED TO REVIEW THOSE DOCUMENTS WHICH RELATE TO SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES, IN COUNTERINTELLIGENCE MATTERS, PERFORMED SINCE JANUARY 1, 1966. YOU SHOULD FURNISH INFORMATION TO IDENTIFY THE ACTIVITY: TARGET, PURPOSE OF ENTRY, DATE OF ENTRY, BRIEF SUMMARY OF INFORMATION OBTAINED (SUBSCRIBER'S LISTS, ORGANIZATIONAL OR FINANCIAL DATA, MONTHLY REPORTS, ETC.), IDENTITIES OF AUTHORITIES APPROVING THE ENTRY, AND FILE NUMBER OF TARGET'S CASE.

WHERE NEW YORK HAS PREVIOUSLY FURNISHED INFORMATION IN RESPONSE TO THE CIVIL RIGHTS DIVISION'S INQUIRY, IT IS SUFFICIENT IN THOSE INSTANCES TO FURNISH ONLY THE IDENTITY OF THE TARGET AND DATE OF ENTRY. RESOLVE ANY QUESTION IN THIS REGARD IN FAVOR OF FURNISHING THE INFORMATION TO FBIHQ.

NOTE:

In connection with the SWP/YSA civil suit, the New York Office caused a search of their records and located a number of documents relating to surreptitious entries conducted by that office. These records dated from the 1940's through 1975 and therefore fall within the period of time of interest to the Civil Rights Division.

By teletype of April 5, 1976, New York's Internal Security Division furnished results of its review of the above documents as they relate to entries in the domestic security area.

4/7/76 We are now asking New York to review the same documents for entry activity, from January 1, 1966, to the present, in the counterintelligence area. This communication follows a telephonic conversation with New York Supervisor [redacted] who advised SAC Denz was aware of FBIHQ's oral request for entry information and had requested in confirmation a communication from Headquarters.

Reference is made to Leavitt to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 16, 1976, and to Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 19, 1976. 100-10295

PURPOSE:

To highlight recent developments in connection with our response to the Department's inquiry into matters concerning surreptitious entry; to advise of the results of a recent New York Office review of certain newly discovered documents relating to surreptitious entries performed by that office from the 1940s through 1975; for approval of the attached communication to all field offices to determine whether or not similar documents are present in those offices.

SYNOPSIS:

A March 18, 1976 EX-101 communication to all field offices instructed personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge of "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others . . . since January 1, 1975. This communication, sent in response to a request of Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, asked for recollection of personnel, however incomplete or vague. Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 19, 1976, revealed that in connection with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al., 25 volumes of unserialized documents relating to surreptitious entries conducted by the New York Office were discovered in the New York Office. The period covered by these documents was from the 1940s through 1975. Past policy as detailed in a W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966, was for memoranda dealing with requests and approvals to conduct entries to be destroyed following field office inspections. Since documents have been located indicating at least one instance in April 1976 this policy was not followed, we will survey all field offices to determine whether or not similar documents are present.

DETAILS:

T. W. Leavitt to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 16, 1976, approved a March 18, 1976, communication to all field offices instructing personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge of "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others . . . since January 1, 1966." The communication set forth several examples to be followed in responding to the inquiry, and requested that response should include recollections however incomplete or vague. Recipients were asked not to initiate a wide-ranging inquiry, but were requested to make reasonable efforts to obtain information about entries.

Legal Counsel to Mr. J. B. Adams memorandum of March 19, 1976, advised of a court order filed in the SWP civil action against the Attorney General, et al. This order directed the FBI to produce additional materials relevant to the civil action's discovery motions, including materials relating to intelligence gathering burglaries conducted by the FBI against the SWP. In addition, Legal Counsel memorandum disclosed the existence, in the New York Office, of 25 volumes of unserialized documents showing surreptitious entries performed by the New York Office from the 1940s through 1975.

Memorandum to Mr. J. B. Adams
Re: Surreptitious Entries
66-8160

As detailed in W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966, (captioned "Black Bag" Jobs) the procedure followed with respect to memoranda concerning surreptitious entries was that "... the Special Agent in Charge prepares an informal memorandum showing that he obtained Bureau authority and this memorandum is filed in his safe until the next inspection by Bureau Inspectors, at which time it is destroyed." It is evident that the policy outlined in the Sullivan memorandum was not, in at least one instance, strictly adhered to.

In a communication of April 5, 1976, the New York Office reported results of a review of the 25 volumes mentioned above for information pertaining to domestic security matters. The review showed a total of 73 entries directed against such groups as the CPUSA, the SWP, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and the Weather Underground. Of the 73 entries, 31 have been reported previously to the Department.

Since documents of this nature have been located in the New York Office, it is possible that similar material exists in the field offices. To insure our full compliance with the Department's inquiry, we will survey all field offices for documents of this nature.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

JUNE

Recently, in response to a court order in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al., FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) canvassed all field offices for any materials relating to intelligence-gathering burglaries directed against the SWP. As a result of this survey, a number of documents concerning surreptitious entries directed against the SWP and other groups were located in our New York Office. Preliminary review of these documents shows this material covers a period from the 1940s through 1975, and consists of memoranda showing requests and approvals to conduct entries.

In a field office, memoranda showing requests and approvals for surreptitious entries were to be handled under a "Do Not File" procedure, which prescribed their destruction following field office inspections. This policy was outlined in a W. C. Sullivan to Mr. C. D. DeLoach memorandum of July 19, 1966. A copy of this memorandum was furnished to Mr. William L. Gardner in connection with his review at FBIHQ of matters involving surreptitious entry.

We are presently assembling information obtained as a result of a review of those documents recently revealed by our New York Office. As requested by you, material dealing with entries occurring subsequent to January 1, 1966, will be furnished to you as soon as all information is available at FBIHQ.

Inasmuch as the policy as outlined in the W. C. Sullivan memorandum was not in at least one instance adhered to, we propose to canvass all field offices to determine whether similar documents exist in our other offices. You will be advised of the results of this survey.

NOTE:

Following discovery of 25 volumes of documents dealing with surreptitious entries conducted by the New York Office from the 1940s through 1975, we instructed New York to furnish information relating to entries occurring subsequent to 1/1/66. New York responded with a total of 73 entries against domestic groups, 31 of which we have already reported to the Department. The remaining 42 entries will be furnished to the Civil Rights Division in accordance with earlier-followed procedures. New York has been instructed to review the documents in question for entries in counter-intelligence matters.

On instruction of the Office of Deputy Associate Director (Investigation), we are advising the Civil Rights Division of the discovery of these documents, as well as what action we propose to take.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRIES

Reference Bureau airtel to SAC, Albany dated 3/18/76 and captioned as above.

In response to a January 20, 1976, request of the Civil Rights Division, Department of Justice, referenced communication asked all field offices personnel at SAC level and higher to furnish their knowledge as to "any and all break-ins or surreptitious entries performed by Bureau agents or others ...since January 1, 1966."

A recent court order in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) civil action against the Attorney General, et al asked that the FBI produce materials relating to intelligence gathering burglaries directed against the SWP. Subsequent to that order, an all-office communication instructed that materials of this nature be brought to the attention of FBIHQ. The ensuing search of field office records resulted in the discovery in a small number of offices of documents relating to surreptitious entry activity of those offices. These documents, relating not only to entries against the SWP, were in one office, in the form of unserialized, chronologically ordered "SAC Folders." Much of the activity noted therein occurred prior to January 1, 1966; however, there were materials concerning entries conducted subsequent to that date and therefore falling within the period of inquiry established by the Civil Rights Division.

Accordingly, you are instructed to take the necessary steps, including consultation with knowledgeable personnel within your office, to determine whether or not similar
